They Killed the Irish Lass.

Kathleen Sheehan, aged 23, of New York City, killed herself because her mates mimicked her brogue. She was a slip of a girl who came from the old sod recently and brought her mellifluous brogue with her. She broadened meat into "mate" and rolled her "ra's" with a rich "burr."

The girl had a tender heart, the mobile temperament of her race, and was very sensitive. First finding employment at a dressmaker's she chanced to say something about "wor-ruck." There was a titter from the other girls. With unconscious provincialism one of them said, "You mean woyck, don't you?" When Kathleen understood the girls were poking fun at her she took it very much to heart. The stress upon her spirit grew until she left the place.

Then she found employment at a dry goods shop. Laughter greeted all her utterances there also and the teasing wounded her. She studied pronunciation of English at night, but her lator was in vain. Her Limerick tongue could not be twisted. The girl fled from her mockers to another shop where she endured similar torments. Her face became sad and she brooded much. One day she told her relatives she had insured her life. "Why?" they asked. "I might die," she said with a far-away look. "The money is for you."

Last Sunday the shrinking lass dressed herself in her best clothes and went to a park where she stayed all day and all night. She was debating the old, old question—"To be or not to be?" How it must have tortured her poor brain and heart. It was her Gethsemane! Monday morning at dawn she went to a clump of bushes and swallowed carbolic acid. A policeman found her writhing on the ground. In the ambulance on the way to the hospital she gasped:

"They'll never make fun av me again."

And then she died. No, no, lassie, they'll never make fun of you again. Bitterly sorry are they when it is too late. You see there's more than one way to kill a poor girl. And your brogue, Kathleen, will not trouble you in the Kinder Land, where you have gone. They speak neither English, nor Irish, nor dialects there. There's only one language in Heaven—a language too little used on the earth. It is the language of Love.—St. Louis Chronicle.

Mrs. Fred Unrath.

President Country Club, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior. But instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of general nutrition for the organs of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.
